Solaris Air Compressor for ELSD

Part number: 65-0003 (230v) | 65-0004 (110v)

Description

Peak Scientific's Solaris Air Compressor generator has been designed to support the Solaris Nitrogen generator for ELSD in labs without an external supply of high quality air. Available in both a 230v and 110v option this unit is suitable for all regions.

A common feature in all of Peak's products is ease of use for laboratory workers, allowing them to concentrate on analysis. This unit has been engineered to limit use of valuable laboratory workspace through its stackable design, the Solaris ELSD nitrogen generator can be stacked on top of the compressor.

Solaris has been developed to provide an on-site gas supply of high purity nitrogen for ELSD (Evaporative Light Scattering Detector) for labs using HPLC (High Performance Liquid Chromatography) or alternatively to supply Compact Mass Spectrometer instruments.
